SECRETARY ROOT TO RETIRE

WILL LEAVE THE CABINET WHEN CONGRESS ADJOURNS

And Resume the Practice of Law in This City-Has Accomplished the Great Work He Mapped Out When He Consented to Become Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.-Secretary Root at the War Department.

From now until the close of the next session of Congress he will be very busy putting into effect his plans for the military establishment and completing the Counsel Arthur F. Cosby, who acted as details of the civil government in the Philippines. When these have been accomplished he will leave the Cabinet and President McKinley. Problems of the greatest national importance confronted the Administration at that time, and it was only through his patriotic motives that he consented to enter the Cabinet. The insurrection in the Philippines, the delicate situation in Cuba and later, the war in China, required careful handling, and, once involved in these difficulties, Mr. Root hesitated to leave until they met with a successful termination. He also determined upon a number of reforms in the army, and recommendations for the upbuilding of an effective fighting force on land were made to Congress. These have partly been carried out. The Philippine insurrection is now at an end, Cuba has been transferred from American control to the people of the island, and only few details of the civil government in the Philippines remain to be worked out.

An army reorganization bill was passed by Congress, but the last session failed to act upon the additional recommendations providing for a general staff and the consolidation of the supply bureaus of the War Department. These recommendations will be renewed at the coming session and another effort made to secure their adoption. A new army bill, differing but slightly from the one offered at the last session, will be introduced, and, should it become a law, Secretary Root will immediately put its provisions into operation

Secretary Root has taken great pride in the organization of an army war college, and has plans for regular field manœuvres at four big camps of instruction. As yet these plans are in their infancy, and much work remains to be done to get a thorough system of military instruction in working order. He hopes to accomplish much of this work by the close of the coming ses-sion of Congress and has already planned to go on a hunting trip with President Roosevelt some time in March. Upon his return from this trip he will conclude his administration of the War Department and retire to private life. and retire to private life.

There is but one controlling reason for Secretary Root's determination to leave the Cabinet, and that is, having accomplished the work which he mapped out when he became Secretary of War, there will no longer be any great necessity for remaining. Secretary Root entered the Cabinet of President McKinley in the summer of 1899. The acquisition of new territory developed serious problems, calling for the highest legal intelligence to solve. Though Secre-tary Root had little knowledge of military affairs, his great legal ability won for him at the first the respect of the President and his advisers. He was recognized as one of the strongest men in the Cabinet, and he soon became the force of the Administration. The first real problem to con-front him was the insurrection in the Philip-pines. It had already been under way several months and was daily growing more difficult of settlement. It was neces-sary to quell the rebellion, and to this end another large army was organized. An active movement was begun, and before long the trouble subsided.

Then came the news of the outbreak in China, and Secretary Root became at once the military and diplomatic head Government. Secretary Hay and Assist-ant Secretary Hill were away from Wash-ington, and Secretary Root had the task of directing the operations of our troops in China, as well as conducting the diplomatic correspondence made necessary by our position in the East. It was a herculean task, and compelled the Secretary of War to work day and night to keep pace with to work day and night to keep pace with the daily happenings.

Meanwhile, the situation in Cuba required the most careful handling and a government had to be provided for Porto Rico. Added to these problems was that of army reorganization. A more perfect union was needed, and it required much work to develop a system that would not only em-body the necessary features to rectify the faults, but would at the same time meet with the approval of Congress. With an enlargement of the army, politicians sought to secure legislation opening the field of appointment. Secretary Root tried to pre-vent the use of political influence in the army, and, though it was a big undertaking, he finally succeeded.

secretary Root leit Washington at 4 o'clock this afternoon for New York, where e will remain until to-morrow evening.
It is not known that the President has It is not known that the President has given any thought to the selection of a successor to Mr. Root. So much time remains before Mr. Root will leave the Cabinet that the President will have ample opportunity to look about for the right man. With Mr. Root's retirement no New Yorker will be a member of the Cabinet, and this taken into consideration, with the warm will be a member of the Cabinet, and this taken into consideration with the warm friendship of Mr. Roosevelt for Col. William Cary Sanger, the Assistant Secretary of War, and Col. Sanger's thorough acquaintance with the workings of the War Department and his frequent service as acting Secretary with entire satisfaction to his superior officers, makes his the first name to be suggested in connection with filling superior officers, makes his the first name to be suggested in connection with filling the approaching vacancy. Col. Sanger is regarded here as a man of ability, and entirely capable of conducting the great business of the military establishment. He is an intensely loyal supporter of President Roosevelt, and there can be no doubt that the admiration is mutual. the admiration is mutual.

AS TO "DISORDERLY CONDUCT." Prisoner Sentenced by Magistrate May Be

Released and Then Held for Trial. Application was made to Justice Wilmot

Smith, sitting in the Sapreme Court, Long Island City, yesterday, for a writ of habeas corpus requiring the production before him this morning of Fannie Mack. The application was based on the ruling of the Justice two weeks ago, that City Magistrates did not have sentencing powers and could only admit to bail or hold for the higher courts. Fannie Mack was committed to the county jail for sixty days by Magistrate Matthew J. Smith in Long Island City, on a charge of disorderly conduct, which is something that, under Justice Smith's ruling, does not exist as a crime. The application followed the Justice's ruling pretty closely and asked that the prisoner be brought into court and discharged from custedy.

It was rumored last night that the District Attorney would oppose the release and would take different grounds from those taken when Justice Smith made his ruling and under it discharged the prisoner brought before him. It is said the District Attorney's office will consent to the release of the prisoner, and then ask that Justice Smith, sitting as a Magistrate, hold the woman for trial.

OFFICERS WENT THERE LOOKING FOR LAURA BIGGAR.

Some of the Interesting Things They Found and Took Away-The Doctor and the Biggar Woman Arrested in June Perjury Charge Now Against Stanton

A warrant for the arrest of Laura Biggar issued by Justice of the Peace Schoenlein of Long Branch, was taken to Hudson county yesterday by Constable Hulick of Asbury Park and indorsed for service by Justice of the Peace Seymour in Hoboken. Alexander Young, of counsel for the Bennett heirs opposing the Biggar woman's claims, said that there was reason for believing that she was either hiding or visiting friends in Hudson county. He professed to place no credence in the published statements of Lawyer Frankenstein that she was in New York, and expressed the belief that she would be apprehended in New Jersey shortly.

Before leaving Hoboken on his hunt for the woman Constable Hulick said that the cow which has been furnishing milk for patients in Dr. Hendrick's sanitarium at Bayonne was taken from the Bennett estate. Acting on instructions from some of the legatees, counsel secured a writ of replevin for the cow. Hulick said that if he could not find the woman he would take back the cow.

Detective Wienthal of Hoboken accompanied Hulick to Bayonne and searched the sanitarium. They found no trace of either the woman or the cow. A check book containing a check signed by Hendrick for $30, and payable to Justice of the Peace Stanton's order, was found and turned over to Lawyer Young with other documents, the nature of which neither Hulick nor Weinthal would reveal. Both said, however, that they had important bearing on the case.

A letter was found addressed to Dr. Hendrick. It was dated Aug. 11 and was sent by Mrs. C. Albrecht of Ocean avenue, Jersey City. Mrs. Albrecht demanded that the doctor make good a check for $10 which he had sent his wife. Mrs Hendrick asked Mrs. Albrecht to cash the check. She did not have the money and got John Akron of 823 Ocean avenue, Jersey City, to cash it. In the letter Mrs. Albrecht informed the doctor that his family were in want and his children were sick.

It was rumored in Hoboken yesterday

It was rumored in Hoboken yesterday that another official of that city was to be arrested in connection with the alleged conspiracy. Lawyer Young refused to discuss the rumor.

"There will be a whole lot of surprises before this case ends," he said, "but we don't propose to make our plans public. All that I can say now is that we have amassed considerable evidence since the hearing before Judge Heisley last Friday, and are confident that we can prove the conspiracy that we then charged."

Justice of the Peace Van Wyck said yesterday that a man approached him in Hoboken last July and asked him if he remembered having married an old man to a much younger woman in 1898. Van Wyck couldn't remember having married such a couple, but took the man to his office and allowed him to consult the records. The man examined the remarked cursorily.

"It's too bad, it's not here," he remarked to Van Wyck. "If by any chance you found it, it would be worth $2,000 to you." Van Wyck is now inclined to believe the man was making him a covert offer of a bribe, and he links the incident with the Bigger case. 's too bad, it's not here," he remarked

Former Justice of the Peace Samuel Stanton of Hoboken was closeted all yes-terday afternoon in the Freehold jail with a Mr. Davis of Jersey City, and it was reported that he had made a confession. Davis left Freehold late in the afternoon. A Sun reporter saw Stanton in jail last night and told him it was reported he had made a confession. Laura B'ggar's counsel, Samuel I, Frankenstein, denied flatly last night the report that his client was in hiding in Delaware, and said that he had a conference with her and said that he had a conference with her in person yesterday morning. She was quite worried that she had not been able to get bail so that she might go back to Jersey and dismiss the idea that she was afraid to face the charge.

"The confidence of the opposing counsel that they will be able to take from Mrs. Bennett what she inherits under the will is quite absurd," said Mr. Frankenstein.
"That clause in the will forfeiting the legacy of any one who might contest the document of any one who might contest the docume cannot be invoked successfully against Mrs. Bennett. It was nature, not Mrs.

Mrs. Bennett. It was nature, not Mrs. Bennett, that set up this contest.

"The birth of a child brought into operation the laws of the State. Mrs. Bennett was acting then not for herself but for Henry M. Bennett, Jr., whose legal rights existed, although he lived but fifteen days.

"I do not believe the report that Stanton has made a confession. If he has made any statement tending to involve my client in a conspiracy it is a false one. The new charge of perjury which they have made against him indicates to my mind that they do not hope to convict him on the conspiracy charge."

AUTOISTS TO OPPOSE LICENSE. Governors of A. C. A. Deelde That They Will Fight L. A. W. Proposition.

A meeting of the board of governors of the utomobile Club of America was held yesterday at the offices of A. R. Shattuck, president of the club, and it was then decided that the of the club, and it was then decided that the organization would oppose the ordinance introduced to the Law Committee of the Board of Alderman on Sept. 4 by J. B. Thompson, representing the New York State division of the League of American Wheelmen. It was decided that it should be the policy of the club to oppose the ordinance for two reasons. The first ground for contention named by the governors of the Automobile Club is that of a legal technicality. Inc. "Highway law passed by the State Legislature, according to the legal advisers of the club, does not permit any municipality to enact an ordinance that exacts a tax from the owner of a private vehicle. The second ground on which the automobilists decided to oppose the ordinance of the present administration of the L. A. W. in this State was that of common sense. It was agreed that city licenses would cause no end of trouble, and that if anything of the kind was necessary it should be done by the State. An automobilist starting from New York should not be required to take out several city licenses before reaching Buffalo, it was argued. A committee was appointed to confer with the officers of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers with the idea of a joint committee being formed to offer a statute to the State Legislature. It is probable that a hearing on the license ordinance will be called for Oct. 7.

The following Nominating Committee was appointed: Dave H. Morris, W. J. Stewart, organization would oppose the ordinance

YALE LOOKS FOR A HARD TUSSLE FROM PRINCETON.

Positions That Call for the Most Coaching Work at New Haven-The Peculiar Build of King, Harvard Centre Candidate-Practice of the Big Elevens.

There is a feeling at Princeton that the team this year is one of considerable possi bilities, depending, of course, on the devel-opment of the material individually and as a team. There is big, strong and scrappy material on hand, and that, said a Princeton man yesterday, "is what we have been wait-ing for." But there is also a feeling that the time in which to develop this material is not any too long. The probable calibre of the new men is such that they, together with the old men of tried worth, give Princeton a fighting chance for a winning team. That the team will be stronger than last year is quite likely, with more hard work and less hero worship than a year ago. A Yale graduate who is just back from New Haven expresses himself thus regarding Princeton: "Princeton always does her best when there is a green team to develop, and while the outlook at New Haven is for a pretty fair team, Yale looks for Princeton to give her considerable football this fail."

At Yale the three positions that will require the greatest amount of coaching and drilling to fill properly are the two ends and children to parents. Have you, sufferer, tested this wondrous life giver? If not, you are not doing justice to yourself or family. Paine's Celery Compound has saved tens of thousands of the line position. The end may not wealthy and plain people; it will not fail drilling to fill properly are the two ends and one back of the line position. The end material is fair, but both of last year's ends are gone and two new men must be worked over until they are able to fill the vacancies. The extremities of the line, therefore, will need more coaching than other line positions, and the Blue is fortunate in having as head coach Swan, who played end last year and knows the requirements of the position Holt, Glass and Goss, the centre men, are as near to sure of their piaces as anybody on the eam.

Compound has saved tens of thousands of our wealthy and plain people; it will not fail our wealthy and sure of their places as anybody on the cam sure of their piaces as anybody of the cambarring Capt Chadwick, and should be the strongest centre trio on the field this season.

A plunging back is much needed and to develop the man for the place and to bring the ends up to the standard are matters which will call for no little close application in the combine them.

The new Harvard centre candidate, King, is a man who is only 5 feet 814 inches tall, but who weighs, stripped, 242 pounds. He is not as tall as Jim Jeffries by five inches, but weighs about thirty pounds more than the fighter when the latter is at ring weight. King, judging from descriptions, has a huge trunk—he's a frog," is the way a noted athlete expressed it for instance, King has a chest measurement of 43 3 inches, a waist measurement of 43 5 inches and hips measurement of 48 4 inches. He is timy as big as Jeffries about the body and, indeed, much bigger in some portions of his anatomy, as the following measurements of Jeffries show. Chest, 434 inches; waist, 34 inches; hips, 42 inches. The calf measurement of the football player and the puglist is the same, 164; inches Jeffries has slightly the bigger forearm, his being 13 inches to King's 12, but the latter has the bigger biceps his measuring 161 inches to 1514 for Jeffries. These measurements of Jeffries were taken in 1899, just before he fought Fitzsimmons.

The 'Varsity and scrub squads at the University of Pennsylvania have been portioned off by Capt. Gardiner and will henceforth live at different quarters. The 'Varsity squad is composed of the following men: McCabe, Stockwell, Piekarski, Dick, Metzgar, Torrey, Howard, Dale, Weissenfuhl, Richardson, Fortiner, Gardiner, Hare, Thomas, Donaldson and Sloane. The scrub squad comprises Bradbury, Weede, Mitchell, Collins, Keilar, Townsend, Bennett, Weschler, Corley, Bogardus Taylor and Baker. There is a chance that Rynolds, the half back and capable punter of last fall, may get back on the team. He is out of the game just now on account of his studies, but hopes to be in good standing by the time the hard games are due.

Athletes for Columbia.

The advance list of the schoolboys who are to matriculate in the various schools of Columbia University on Oct. 6 has been completed and shows that an usually large number of prominent interscholastic athletes will be on hand to strengthen the Varsity teams this year. The sports to be benefited most are lootball, cycling, track athletics and swimming.

The track team gets a large quota of good men. Among them are Max Hardman, a runner from the University of Washington: Albert Celier, the sprinter and hurdler from Horace Mann School: Walter Squires, the New England [champion pole-vaulter from Williams, who has cleared lifeet: Brinckerhoff, the quarter-miler and relay runner, from the Brooklyn High School: Loder, a hammer thrower and shot putter, from the Port Chester High School: William Strange, a weight man, from Columbia Grammar Schools L. but the 'Varsity goal was never in danger.

PRINCETON, Sept. 29.—The Tigers this afternoon had their first real test of the season. They lined up with the scrubs in a regular contest of fifteen minutes and made one touchdown. Moore, a freshman from Exeter, had the honor of scoring the Orange and Black's first points. He got the leather on the scrubs' 3-yard line, after it had been rushed from about the centre of the field, and played past right tackle for the score. At another time the 'Varsity had the ball on its opponent's 5-yard mark, but the second-raters held staunchly and took the pigskin on downs. As this was the first attempt that has been made to play the game here, the formations were necessarily loosely put together. On the whole, though, the showing was good. The line men charged well and put lot of scrap into their work, while the back fleiu went through the entire afternoon's play with but one fumble. Burke and Vetterlein played in fine form.

The scrimmage brought out a promising man for full back in Ross McClave, a brother of the Tigers' half back. Once or twice he ploughed his way over the chalk marks with several players hanging to him.

PROVIDENCE. Sept. 29.—Brown's football

PROVIDENCE. Sept. 29.—Brown's football practice to-day, although not as good as on last Saturday, was anything but slow. The bull was kicked off to the 'Varsity and in eight minutes they made two touchdowns. Chase made two very fine runs of twenty and thirty yards each around the 'Varisty ends for the scrub. The defensive work of the 'Varsity was especially good. The practice to-morrow will not be very vigorous as the injured men will need to rest up for the game with Vermont on Wednesday. To-night the squad was called to the gymnasium for secret signal practice and a jecture by Hend Coach Gammons.

the home team at the hands of the Fordham eleven on Saturday. The line bucking of Capt. Gulnac was the redeeming feature of the game. All the men showed up for practice to-day. Only light practice was gone through with, owing to the fact that Jones of the '98 team is back and assisting in coaching the backs in trick plays. New Haven, Sept. 29—The first serious accident of the year on the Yale football field occurred this afternoon when Bowman, the freshman from Hill School was knocked out and had to be carried to the side lines. He was playing full back on the college team at the time. On a centre play he struck the line very low, was thrown on his head to the ground and received a bad kick in the neck. Bowman was stunned. Water was given to him, but he did not revive and had to be carried from the gridiron. At the side lines he recovered sufficiently to be able to walk to the cars assisted by a trainer and Hinkle of the football squad. He was sent to the gymnasium in a special car and late this afternoon had recovered sufficiently to take a walk in the open air. It is expected that he will be in condition to play Wednesday.

One long run was made by Jack Ward on the 'Varsity team, who netted forty yards before being brought down. The line work to-day of the 'Varsity was good but the college line gave an exhibition that all but took the brenth of the coaches. The 'Varsity backs had carried the ball to the college one-yard line. Here the college made a stand and it required two plunges before he 'Varsity could land the ball over the line.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 29.—Capt. Charles Belknap of the midshipmen football team for this season and forty-one other candidates appeared on the field this aiternoon, and the first preliminary practice was begun. The only member of last year's team who did not report was carpenter, the 210-pound guard. Bodgers, Schlabach and Oak, players of last year's hustler team, who will likely hold the positions of tackles and centre of the first eleven, did not appear in their football clothes but are said to be in the city. The most promising men among the newly entered fourth class are Alken and Grady as full backs: Howard and Fitch, half backs: Biebe, as an end, and Smith, at centre. The practice to-day lasted two hours, but no scrimmage was held.
